HEALTH LECTURES BY DR. ROSS BEING HEARD WITH INTEREST

Large Crowds Present at Each Place Lecture Has Been Given.

The second of the series of lectures that are being prepared and delivered by County Superintendent of Health G. Floyd Ross was presented last night at 8 o'clock in the McLeansville schoolhouse. The interesting talk which accompanied the stereoptican views were heard and seen by a crowd that taxed the capacity of the building, many being turned away on account of lack of space. The lecture given at Bessemer on Monday night also drew a large and appreciative crowd and the sound health principles laid down in the talks seem certain to be productive of great good in the uplift of the people along health lines.

The lecture and views were presented to the parents of the school children of the community. The object is to call the attention of the people to the main things in the county that must be dealt with along health lines—to instruct the fathers and mothers concerning hygenic and sanitary subjects of vital interest to the welfare and prosperity of the people, flies, and their deadly realtion to typhoid fever, the fever itself, cure and prevention, consumption, hookworm and smallpox. A large number of excellent slides representing every line of argument are shown and the whole has an impressive effect upon listeners, encouraging them to enforce betetr health conditions and thus immeasurably benefit the entire county.

The third lecture will be given tonight at Proximity. Other lectures will be given this week on Friday night at Gibsonville and at Pleasant Garden on the 12th. Dr. Ross, according to the program previously published in The Telegram, is thus touching thoroughly every community in the county and spreading the invaluable gospel and doctrine of the uselessness of disease and the ease of its prevention when the matter is properly undertaken.

SETTLE SHARPE MET A HORRIBLE DEATH YESTERDAY

Fell From Train at Rural Hall and Body was Crushed Under the Wheels—Was on First Run as Brakeman—Funeral This Afternoon.

His many friends throughout the city were shocked yesterday afternoon to learn of the death of Thomas Settle Sharpe, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Sharpe, of 220 East Lee street, which occurred in Winston-Salem yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mr. Sharpe was a brakeman on a freight and at Rural Hall he slipped and fell as he was climbing on a car, the wheels of the moving train ruthlessly cutting off both legs and an arm, inflicting injuries from which he died an hour later.

Young Sharpe was until a few months ago in the employ of one of the local banks, resigning his position to take up railroading. He was on his first run as a brakeman, being on the return trip from Wilkesboro to Winston when the horrible accident occurred. At Rural Hall some cars had to be shifted and Sharpe had made his couplings and was in the act of climbing on the car when it is supposed that he lost his hold and fell.

The news of the death reached Greensboro shortly after 4 o'clock and B. C. Sharpe, his father, Ben Sharpe, Jr., his brother, and E. P. Wharton went to Winston and brought the remains here late last night and carried them to the home of the deceased on East Lee street.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock from St. Andrew's Episcopal church, conducted by Rev. Arthur Berkley, of Mayodan. The interment will follow in Green Hill cemetery, the following acting as pallbearers: Fielding Fry, William Wetmore, J. L. Hardin, Roger Jennings, Victor Ballard, Hugh Scott.

The deceased was just 23 years of age and was well known and quite popular throughout the city. He had for years been a member of the Episcopal church and was highly esteemed on account of his many admirable traits of character. He is survived by his parents, two sisters, Miss Mary Sharpe, Mrs. Moulton Avery, three brother, B. C. Sharpe, Jr., Douglas Sharpe and David Sharpe. Also a number of other near relatives.

With his left arm crushed off at his shoulder, both feet mashed off and a bad wound on the top of his head, Mr. T. Settle Sharpe, was brought to the Twin-City hospital yesterday afternoon and died within five minutes after his arrival.

His tragic death was the result of an accident about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Rural Hall, where, while performing his duties of brakeman on a freight train running between this city and Wilkesboro, Mr. Sharpe was struck by a locomotive and crushed so badly that death resulted in about an hour.

Just prior to the accident he was coupling cars.

No one, so far as can be learned, was an eye-witness to the accident, and the first knowledge of the tragedy was when the body of young Sharpe was seen laying on the track. It is believed that Mr. Sharpe, when he had coupled the cars on one track, stepped in front of the locomotive coming down the parallel track just in time to be caught under t he wheels.

The injured man was brought to this city as soon as possible, arriving here shortly before 4 o'clock. At 4 o'clock he was dead.

The body was carried to the grief-stricken parents in Greensboro on the 8:10 train last night.

He is survived by his parents, two sisters and one brother.

ARBITRATION TREATIES WILL HAVE TO BE AMENDED

Washington, Aug. 10.—Friends of the British and French arbitration treaties in the Senate have come to the conclusion that it will be necessary to amend the conventions in order to get favorable action upon them. This conclusion is the result of the consideration of the documents by the Senate committee on foreign relations which has taken up in vigorous fashion.

After two prolonged sittings the committee adjourned late yesterday to meet again Saturday. Both meetings were devoted to the consideration of the documents on their merits, the first in company with Secretary Knox and the second by the members themselves without the secretary's aid.

A special objection was made to the provision submitting questions of difference to the joint high commission of inquiry, but fault also was found with the provision in the French treaty authorizing ratification by that government in accordance with the procedure required by the laws of France and with the condition in the British treaty that matters affecting dependencies of Great Britain shall be submitted to the governments of such dependencies. It was thought that the latter clause might lead to undesirable complications, while it was feared that the former might necessitate a change in the method of proceeding in this country.

TANGLE IN WAKE OVER FEES FOR HEALTH OFFICIALS

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Aug. 10.—The Wake county tangle over the appointment of a county superintendent of health is to get into the courts in that Dr. J. J. L. McCullers, the appointee of the State Board of Health as county superintendent of health, the county board having failed to elect a superintendent, is to have to sue for the fees for his first month's services amounting to $89.50. Dr. McCullers was first elected county superintendent by the county board of health and the county commissioners refused to allow the $2,500 salary allowed so that McCullers had to resign for lack of pay. Then after the legal lapse of time, it devolved on the secretary of the State board of health, Dr. Rankin, to appoint the county superintendent. He renamed Dr. McCullers as that officer and declared a schedule of fees for his compensation. It is now to be settled in court as to the validity of the act of the recent legislature that empowers the State board of health, through its secretary, to name county superintendents when for any reason the county authorities have not agreed on a superintendent within a prescribed time.

NEW PLANS FOR FINANCING CHURCH WERE ADOPTED

Recommendations of the Permanent Board Unanimously Received—Report On Suppression of Liquor Traffic Received This Afternoon—Rains Adds to Joyment Of Friends Present.

Special to Telegram.

Guilford College, Aug. 10.—The recent rains made the college campus and lawn more beautiful for the morning sun and the scene presented an animated appearance this morning when the hundreds of visitors and lelegates from all parts of the state who are in attendance on the Yearly Meeting of Friends in progress here. They are having an enjoyable social time in the buildings and on the campus, some of them having been here on former occasions since 1850.

This morning's session began at 10 o'clock, the scripture lesson being read by Timothy Nicholson, of Indiana, following which he invoked the divine blessing.

Somewhat new and more attractive methods of financing the church came as a proposition from the permanent board. The plan was adopted with uanimity by the meeting. The plan proposes for the erection of a central church on the college grounds for the Yearly Meeting sessions and which shall also be used by the college and the New Garden meeting. The drawings for the proposed edifice are now on exhibition. The building wil cost from $13,000 to $15,000 and will be a fitting addition to the buildings on the campus of the college.

The session was adjourned until this afternoon at which time the report of the committee on the suppression of the liquor traffic will be read.

The program for tomorrow follows:

8:30 a. m.—Meeting for Worship.

10:00 a. m.—Meeting for Business: Report on the Blue Ridge Mission.

2:00 p. m.—Meeting for Women.

2:30 p. m.—Meeting for Business: Report of Foreign Missions Board.

8:00 p. m.—Christian Endeavor.

Last night at 8 o'clock Rev. Enoch Harvey, of High Point, preached a most forceful sermon from Genesis 7:1. He dwelt upon the fact that upon the father of the family lies a greater responsibility than upon the other members of the family. He referred also to the fact that before the flood the salvation of Noah and his family depended upon the ark and he entered into the vessel of his own accord. Now the one way of salvation is through Jesus Christ and those who accept him must do it of their own free will. He spoke of the love of parents for their children and urged that children should take care that they did what was right and be particular with whom they associated.

Guilford College, Aug. 10.—Public prayer preceded the meeting for business, which was begun at 2:30 p. m. yesterday. Dr. L. L. Hobbs was reelected presiding clerk, a position he has held for twenty-six years. Rev. J. H. Peele also continues as reading clerk. Miss Gertrude Mendenhall was elected recording clerk and Rev. Herbert Reynolds announcing clerk.

A resolution was read from Contentnea Quarterly Meeting, asking that something be done to give the Friends Church more correct and satisfactory Bible school literature than we now have. This elicited discussion in the interest of better Bible school literature. The matter was referred to the five years' meeting to convene in Indianapolis, Ind., next. This Indianapolis meeting is the quinquennial conference of of the twelve or thirteen Yearly Meetings of America. Much interesting information and inspiration was brought out by the discussion.

Mrs. Mary J. Weaver of New York, gave an interesting account of an adult Bible class of men which she teaches. The results are fine and she recommends more effort in the same direction.

The report on peace and arbitration elicited remarks from F. S. Blair, Prof. R. W. Kesley of Haverford College, Pa., and W. C. Shaw of Greensboro.

At the evening session in Memorial hall, styled a Workers' Conference, Rev. Enos Harvey of High Point read a paper on "The Bible as a Textbook." He said in part: "Each science has its textbook, a collation of the underlying principles of the science. A student desiring knowledge in a given science will study a book on that subject. So we ex-

TEXT BOOKS WILL HARDLY BE ADOPTED DURING THIS MONTH

Illness of Gov. Kitchin's Mother may Prolong Sessions of Commission.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Aug. 10.—Members of the State Text-book Commission and Sub-Commission are very apprehensive now that the work of textbook adoption will not be completed this week in spite of the special effort in that direction they have been making. The sessions for actual adoption began this morning and it is expected that there will be the disposition of the adoptions first over which there are the least differences, leaving geographies, readers and arithmetics, over which there have developed the most differences among the commissioners, to the last.

Probably the hardest fight in the commission is expected to be over the question of geographies in which the Maury geography published by the American Book Company, and the Dodge Geography by the Rand, McNally Co., are pitted. The Maury Geography is now in use all over the State and it is understood that some of the "progressive" members of the commission are standing for a change to The Dodge. It is stated that Prof. E. C. Brooks, of Trinity College, is preparing a North Carolina supplement for the Dodge Geography.

In the progress of adoption much depends on whether Governor Kitchin will find it possible to return to the city right away from Scotland Neck where he went to be at the bedside of his mother who is very ill. Also on the arrival of Lieutenant Governor Newland, who has been detained in his district by a murder trial in which he is appearing for the defense.

WORK ON CENTRAL HIGHWAY IN WAKE WILL BE PUSHED

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Aug. 10.—The thirty miles or more of the Great Central Highway, Morehead and Beaufort to Asheville and the Tennessee line, that extends through Wake county is to be built without further delay by the county commissioners. At a meeting of the board just held it was determined to put the county convict forces on these sections of road and to provide from the general road fund money needed for this work. Fortunately the road that is to become a part of the great highway that is to extend the length of the state east to west is one of the most important and most used anywhere in the county.

Raleigh, Aug. 10.—Alleghany county comes out of the list of counties in North Carolina that are still without any local tax districts for the improvement of public schools, leaving Graham county as the sole claimant to this questionable distinction. ADVERTISING AND TRUTHFUL ADVERTISING.

Advertising is the greatest selling force in the modern business world. Business men who are unacquainted with advertising methods, who have not tried advertising, or who have tried badly planned, poorly written, indifferently placed advertising, have no conception of the power of advertising. The advertising which secures the greatest and most lasting results is truthful advertising. Untruthful advertising may get results for a while, but it wears out and loses its effectiveness. As honesty in the case of the individual is the best policy and the principle which counts for most in the world of business, so honesty in advertising is the only worthy principle and the best policy.

Truthful advertising, properly used by any honest, intelligent, energetic business man, will secure results, provided it is placed in a good medium. The best medium is the newspaper, as a majority of the country's leading business men know and admit. The best newspaper medium is a live afternoon paper. The circulation and the business of the afternoon papers of the country is conclusive proof of this fact.

Discussing advertising, especially truth ful advertising, the Spartanburg Journal says:

"The necessity for literal, exact truth for successful advertising, was given a foremost emphasis at the meeting of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America at Boston the past week.

"One speaker declared amid applause that a code of ethics for advertising could be made out of just one word, that word to be 'Honest.' To this, he said, might be added the Golden Rule.

"The profession of advertising has within the past decade attracted the devoted energy of a host of the brightest men in our country. They have pretty thoroughly learned the principle that the only way to build a successful business is on the foundation of the satisfied customer.

"The dissatisfied customer is not an asset. In fact, he is very much of a liability. Any business man of keen perceptions would far rather that such a customer should never have entered his establishment. The slight profit that may be made off the stuff he bought is far more than offset by the left handed advertising that he supplies to his friends to vent his dissatisfaction.

"The only way to secure a satisfied customer is to represent goods precisely as they are. If the goods have defects, and the nature and extent of these defects are fully explained by the seller, the customer is never dissatisfied. Often he rather enjoys the defects, as he feels that they do not injure the goods for his purpose, but have ben the means of enabling him to make a saving in price. He boasts of his bargain to his friends, and points out the faults, to show how essentially trifling they were, compared with the reduction that they made possible.

"The customer would soon have discovered such defects, even had the seller remained silent about them. In that case, even if he bought the goods low, he would forever believe that he had been defrauded.

"There are still so many cheats and shams in the world of trade, that the business man who makes his advertising an honest description of his goods just as they are, shines by contrast, and wins a community of permanently satisfied customers."

If ex-Prsident Simon goes on the lecture platform he will add to the white man's burden considerably.

There are all kinds of freaks in the world. It is alleged that a baseball fan in an unnamed city gave up his season pass because one of his favorite players was suspended. That fan may exist, but the chances are that it is in the imagination of a member of the Ananias Society.

"Register and vote right," is the advice given the voters of that city by the Durham Sun. Doubtless the advice is good, but there is usually some difference of opinion as what constitutes the right sort of voting. It is generally impossible to prevail upon all the voters to agree on this point.

The Raleigh Times has heard that Harmon stock is rising in the Democratic nomination market. The Times is published close enough to the office of the News and Observer to be in possession of more accurate information than that.

Congressman comes forward to say that he cannot live on the salary of $7,500 per year which is allowed him. Some Congressmen may be worth more—there is Oscar Underwood, for example—but $7,500 is more than the average Congressman is worth, so it is hardly probable that the salary will be increased to take care of the needs of Congressman Riordan, who finds that he cannot live on his pay.

Do the Republican Interests Threaten a Panic?

An editorial in the American Economist, the organ of the highly protected manufacturers and the tariff barons, contains the following significant sentence: "It looks as if souphouse conditions are the only kind of advice that the people of the United States will accept."

Congress, in obedience to the public will as expressed at the polls last November, is attacking the citadel of protection, and the plain inference to be drawn from this inspired expression in the organ of protection is that the tariff barons are prepared to offer to the people the only kind of advice they are willing to accept—namely, souphouse conditions. They have done this in the past and they seem to be prepared to do it again. They can easily force a panic. They have control of the "money trust;" they can close the mills, as they have threatened to do more than once, if the people should venture to elect a Democratic President. But this wicked device will no longer balk the people in their determination to relieve themselves of the burden of unjust taxation. If the "interests" should undertake to drive and coerce the voters of the land in this manner, it will be to sow a wind which will yield a whirlwind at the harvest.

In the dispatch from New York, giving Vice President Sherman's letter approving the Economist editorial, which also criticises the President, it is intimated that this letter is "the final line of demarkation between President Taft and Vice President Sherman," and that it can no longer be considered expedient for Mr. Sherman to be renominated on the ticket with Mr. Taft. There is no reason for this if the President should veto the wool tariff bill, the cotton tariff bill and the farmers' free list bill, if they should come to him. The indications are that Mr. Taft will veto the bills. It has been said that he has been in consultation with the Republican "whip" about calling in the Congressional Republican absentees, presumably to keep Congress from passing any of the bills over his veto.

The veto of these bills would make Sherman an appropriate running mate for Mr. Taft next year. For Mr. Taft to disapprove of and defeat a bill amending a law which he has denounced as indefensible would surely re-establish the President as a "high priest" of protection and entitle him to the most exalted place in the temple.

But one thing is certain: A veto of all or any one of these House tariff bills would not help Mr. Taft nor the Republican party except as to the campaign fund. It is reasonably certain that a manufactured panic would only serve to exasperate the people against the Republican party and the high-protection fetish.—Baltimore Sun.

Ten Years of Southern Agricultural Progress

Baltimore, Aug. 10.—In a detailed review of agricultural progress in the South in 10 years the Manufacturers' Record says this week:

In 10 years the value of the South's farm lands has largely more than doubled and the value of its farm buildings has increased 92 per cent. These facts speak eloquently of the wonderful agricultural advance which in 10 years has caused the value of the South's farm lands to increase by more than $2,281,000,000 and the value of its farm buildings to grow from $685,188,000 to $1,314,429,000.

In 1910 the South had $262,090,000 invested in agricultural machinery, against $167,349,000 in 1900. In 1910 it used $74,703,000 worth of fertilizers, while at the same time greatly increasing its use of cowpeas, vetch and similar crops for the betterment of the soil, as compared with $29,006,000 spent in 1900 for fertilizers.

Study in detail of the facts of 1900 and 1910 in the South, in Missouri and Oklahoma, closely identified with the South agriculturally, and in the whole country, brings out striking illustrations of what the various States are doing, as well as what is being achieved by the whole South.

In 1910 the aggregate value of farm lands, farm buildings and farm implements and machinery in the South was $6,786,195,000, an increase of $3,545,065,000, or 109.4 per cent over 1900. The aggregate value in the rest of the country of these elements of fixed farm capital in 1910 was $29,153,468,000, an increase of $15,037,173,000, or 106.5 per cent.

In the 10-year period the average value per acre of farm land alone increased from $15.64 to $32.48, of 108 per cent, in the whole country, and from $6.88 to $15.84, or a gain of 130 per cent in the South.

The average value per acre for the whole South in 1910 was less than half the average value for the whole country, and in that year the average value per acre in no Southern State equaled the average value for the whole country. But the greater rate of increase in the average value per acre in the South indicates the general advance in agricultural conditions in that section of the country.

In the very fact that as yet Southern farm lands average but one-half as much per acre in value as farm lands in the rest of the country, and that, too, despite the fact that the average value per acre of the leading crops of the South exceeds the average value per acre of leading crops in the rest of the country, is strikingly emphasized the vast wealth to be created in the South by the inevitable enhancement of its farm land values.

In the 10 years the value of farm lands alone increased from $2,388,593,000 to $5,209,676,000, a gain of $2,821,083,000, equal to 118.1 per cent, in the South, and from $10,662,440,000 to $23,174,145,000, or a gain of $12,511,705,000, equal to 117.3 per cent in the rest of the country. Texas has become the third of five States in the country having farm lands valued at more than $1,500,000,000, these States, with their land values, being Illinois, $3,081,654,000; Iowa, $2,799,025,000; Texas, $1,613,513,000; Nebraska, $1,613,077,000, and Kansas, $1,534,552,000. Yet the increase in Texas in the 10 years bringing its value to within 31 per cent of the total value in the South, was at a less rate than that in Florida. Florida led the South, with an increase from $30,823,000 to $93,288,000 or 203 per cent; Texas came second, with an increase from $591,551,000 to $1,613,513,000, or 173 per cent; South Carolina third, advancing from $99,806,000 to $257,931,000, or 169 per cent; Georgia fourth, from $138,515,000 to $369,120,000, or 166 per cent; North Carolina fifth, from $141,956,000 to $342,545,000, or 141 per cent, and Arkansas sixth, from $105,107,000 to $245,137,000, or 133 per cent. In actual value of farm lands, Texas in 1910 ranked first, with $1,613,513,000; Kentucky second,, having $483,127,000; Virginia third, $393,837,000; Tennessee fourth, $370,783,000; Georgia fifth, $369,120,000, and North Carolina sixth, $342,545,000.

Florida lead the South too, in the rate of increase in the value of farm buildings, the gain in that State being 144 per cent, from $9,997,000 to $24,335,000, but Georgia was a close second, from $44,855,000 to $108,483,000, or 142 per cent, South Carolina being third, from $26,956,000 to $63,902,000, or 137 per cent; North Carolina fourth, from $52,700,000 to $113,170,000, or 115 per cent; Mississippi fifth, from $37,150,000 to $79,580,000, or 114 per cent, and Texas sixth, from $110,223,000 to $209,200,000, or 10[illegible] per cent. Texas led in actual value in 1910, with Kentucky second, $150,655,000; Virginia third, $137,081,000; North Carolina fourth, $113,170,000; Tennessee fifth, $108,823,000, and Georgia sixth, $108,483,000.

The increase in the value of farm buildings in the whole South was from $685,188,000 to $1,314,429,000, a gain of $629,241,000, equal to 92 per cent, while in the rest of the country the gain was from $2,871,426,000 to $4,979,596,000, or by $2,108,170,000, equal to 70.4 per cent.

The South nearly doubled the value of its farm buildings within 10 years, a most striking illustration of its growing agricultural prosperity.

There was an increase of 62,934,000 acres in the improved lands in farms in the United States, and nearly one-quarter of that increase was in the South, the improved area in that section increasing from 116,781,000 acres to 131,958,000 acres, or by 15,177,000 acres, equal to 13 per cent. The largest increase in any State in the South was in Texas, from 19,576,000 acres to 27,129,000 acres, equal to 39 per cent, Florida ranking second in rate of increase, from 1,512,000 acres to 1,803,000 acres, or 19 per cent; Mississippi third, from 7,594,000 acres to 8,959,000 acres or 18 per cent; Georgia fourth, from 10,616,000 acres to 12,264,000 acres, or 16 per cent; Arkansas fifth, from 6,654,000 acres to 9,062,000 acres, or 16 per cent, and Louisiana sixth, from 4,667,000 acres to 5,268,000 acres, or 13 per cent. Alabama's increase was from 8,655,000 acres to 9,687,000 acres, or 12 per cent. The increase in none of the seven other Southern States was greater than 6 per cent, and in three of them there was a decrease. There were similar decreases in a dozen or more States in other parts of the country, ranging from 775,000 acres in New York to 9,000 acres in Rhode Island.

In 1900 the average value per acre of farm land alone in the South was $6.88, and it was $15.64 in the country as a whole. In the next ten years the average value in the South advanced to $15.84, almost exactly the same as the average value for the whole country 10 years before. This Southern increase was at the rate of 130 per cent, with the average in the country increasing to $32.48, or by 108 per cent. In eight Southern States in 1910, Florida, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, South Carolina Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia, the average value was greater than the average value per acre for the whole South. Texas led in the rate of increase in this value in the 10 years, 214 per cent, with South Carolina second, 179 per cent; Georgia third, 162 per cent; Florida fourth, 153 per cent; North Carolina fifth, 145 per cent, and Arkansas sixth, 123 per cent.

Though the rate of increase in the value of farm implements and machinery was not as great in the South as in the whole country, that section added to its equipment of the kind in 10 years $94,741,000. With the average increase for the whole South, 57 per cent, the increase in Florida was 126 per cent; in Georgia, 113 per cent; in South Carolina, 112 per cent; in North Carolina, 103 per cent; in Arkansas, 92 per cent; in Alabama and Texas each 88 per cent; in Virginia, 82 per cent, and in Mississippi, 75 per cent.

Expenditures for farm labor in the South increased from $81,781,000 to $149,563,000, or by $67,682,000, equal to 82.8 per cent, and in the rest of the country from $275,612,000 to $502,399,000, or by $226,787,000, equal to 82.3 per cent. Florida led the South in the rate of increase, from $1,468 to $5,313,000, or 262 per cent, with Arkansas second, 140 per cent; Texas third, 108 per cent; West Virginia fourth, 95 per cent; Kentucky fifth, 84 per cent, and Georgia sixth, 81 per cent.

The South has learned well of the benefits to be derived from the liberal use of fertilizers. In 1910 its expenditures on that line were nearly double the expenditures in the rest of the country, and nearly 66 per cent of the total. Ten years before the South's percentage was about 54 per cent of the total. Between 1900 and 1910 the increase in such expenditures was from $29,006,000 to $74,703,000, a gain of $45,597,000, equal to 157 per cent, in the South and from $24,524,000 to $39,570,000, a gain of $15,046,000, equal to 61 per cent in the rest of the country. Three States, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina, spent in 1910 nearly 60 per cent of the total spent by the South for fertilizers, and of the rest of the Southern expenditures nearly 60 per cent was credited to Alabama, Florida and Virginia. The tendency in other States, however, is indicated in the increase of 371 per cent from $125,000 to $589,000 in the 10 years in Texts and from $173,000 to $596,000, or 245 per cent in Arkansas, Florida, Texas and Arkansas ranking first, second and third, respectively, in rates of increase.

Bearing directly upon this increase in the use of fertilizers is the increase between 1899 and 1910 in the value of 12 leading crops, corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, flaxseed, rice, potatoes, hay, tobacco and cotton in the Southern States, from $771,778,000 to $1,655,933,000, an increase of $884,155,000, or 115 per cent, in the South, compared with an increase of 157 per cent in expenditures for fertilizers in about the same period, while during the same period there was an advance in the value of the same crops from $1,739,377,000 to $2,891,621,000, or $1,152,244,00, equal to 66 per cent in the expenditures for fertilizers.

HANDICAPPED

Too many Greensboro citizens are handicapped with a bad back. The unceasing pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief, but cannot reach the cause. To eliminate the pains and aches you must cure the kidneys.

F. C. Remfry, 512 S. Main St., High Point, N. C., says: "I was in such a miserable condition with kidney trouble that I did not believe there was any cure for me. My back and limbs were so sore that I could not get up after sitting without assistance and it was impossible for me to go about easily. The kidney secretions were also scanty and highly colored. I doctored and took medicine faithfully, but I did not improve. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills and the contents of three boxes made a permanent cure."

Loss of Time Means Loss of Pay.

Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. M. Balent, 1214 Little Penna St., Streator, Ill., was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than before." Foley Kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in results—a good friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills. Howard Gardner.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

FACTS ABOUT GREAT ISTHMIAN CANAL

Canal Zone Contains 448 Square Miles—Canal is 50 Miles Long—Its Dimensions and Methods Employed in Construction—Will be Completed Before 1915.

By JONATHAN WINFIELD.)

Washington, Aug. 10.—The secretary of the Isthmian Canal Commission has recently published a revised and enlarged edition of the official handbook of the Panama Canal, which contains many interesting facts concerning the canal that are not generally known to the public.

The Canal Zone contains 448 square miles. It begins at a point three marine miles from mean low water mark in each ocean, and extends for five miles on each side of the centre line of the route of the canal. It includes the group of islands in the Bay of Panama. Perico Naos, Culebra and Flamenco The cities of Panama and Colon are not included in the zone, but the United States has the right to enforce sanitary ordinances in those cities, and to maintain public order in them in case the Republic of Panama should not in the judgment of the United States be able to do so.

Of the 448 square miles of zone territory, the United States owns the larger portion. The exact amount of the land owned by the United States being determined now by a survey. Under the treaty with Panama the United States has the right to acquire by purchase, or by the exercise of the right of eminent domain, any buildings, lands, water rights, or other properties necessary and convenient for the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of the canal. This government can therefore at any time acquire the lands within the Zone boundaries which are now owned by private persons.

The entire length of the canal from deep water in the Atlantic to deep water in the Pacific is about 50 miles. Its length from shore line to shore line is about 40 miles. In passing through it from the Atlantic to the Pacific, a vessel will enter the approach channel in Limon Bay, which will have a bottom width of 500 feet and extend to Gatun, a distance of about seven miles. At Gatun it will enter a series of locks and be lifted 85 feet to the level of Gatun Lake. It may then steam at full speed through this lake, the channel varying from 1,000 to 500 feet in width for a distance of about 24 miles to Bas Obispo where it will enter the Culebra Cut. It will then pass through the cut a distance of about nine miles. At Pedro Miguel it will enter a lock and be lowered 30 feet to a small lake, at an elevation of 54 feet sea level and will pass through this to Miraflores, a distance of one and one half miles. There it will enter locks and be lowered to sea level and then pass through a distance of about nine miles into the Pacific The depth of the approach channel on the Atlantic side will be 41 feet, and on the Pacific side 45 feet. The depth of the inner canal will vary from 85 to 45 feet.

There will be six double locks in the canal, three pairs in the flight at Gatun with a combined lift of 85 feet, one pair at Pedro Miguel, with a lift of 30 feet, and two pairs at Miraflores, with a combined lift of 54 feet. The usable dimensions of all are the same—a length of 1,000 feet and a width of 110 feet. Each lock will be a chamber with walls and a floor of concrete, and mitering gates at each end.

The side walls will be 45 to 50 feet wide at the surface of the floor. They will be perpendicular on the fact, and will narrow from a point 24 feet above the floor until they are 8 feet at the top. The middle wall will be 60 feet wide, approximately 81 feet high, and each face will be vertical.

The lock gates will be constructed of steel. They will be seven feet thick, 65 feet long, and from 47 to 82 feet high. Each will weigh from 300 to 600 tons. Ninety-two lock leaves will be required for the entire canal the total weighing 57,000 tons. In the construction of the locks, it is estimated that 4,200 cubic yards of concrete will be used, requiring about the same number of barrels of cement.

Electricity will be used to tow all vessels into and through the locks, and to operate the gates and valves, power being generated from water turbines from the head created by Gatun Lake. Vessels will not be permitted to enter or pass through the locks under their own power, but will be towed through by electric locomotives running on cograils laid on top of the lock walls. The number of locomotives employed will vary with the size of the vessel. The usual number will be four. The locks will be filled and emptied through a system of culverts. The average time required to fill or empty a lock will be about fifteen minutes, without opening the valves so suddenly as to create disturbing currents in the locks or the approaches.

The time of passage of a vessel through the entire canal is estimated as ranging between 10 and 12 hours, according to the size of the vessel and the rate of speed she can travel. The time required to pass a vessel through the locks is estimated at three hours, one and one half hours in the lock at Gatun, and about the same time in the locks on the Pacific side.

The total excavation of the canal, wet and dry, as originally planned, was estimated at 103,795,000 cubic yards, in addition to what the French companies did. Changes in the plans of the canal made by the order of the President, increased the amount to 174,666,594 cubic yards. In 1910 more than 31,000,000 cubic yards were removed, the monthly average exceeding 2,600,000. The total for the three years that the United States has been digging aggregated nearly three-fifths of the total amount required to complete the canal.

The canal force is recruited and housed by the U. S. A. Quartermaster's Department. There have been brought to the canal zone 43,432 laborers, of whom 11,797 came from Europe, and 19,448 from Barbadoes, and the balance from the other islands of the West Indies. About $12,000,000 worth of supplies are purchased annually, requiring the discharge of one steamer each day. The commissary department has 22 general stores in as many villages along the route of the canal. It is estimated that counting the employes and their dependents, 65,000 people are supplied daily with food, clothing and other necessities. A supply train of 21 cars leaves Cristobal every morning at 4 o'clock and distributes supplies to the stations along the line.

A careful estimate has been made by the Canal Commission of the value to the commission at the present time of the franchise, equipment, material, work done, and property of various kinds for which the United States paid the French Canal Company $40,000,000. It places the total value at $42,799,826.

There can be little doubt with the progress that has been made that the completion of the canal before 1915 is assured and that it will give to this country more glory than any other of its achievements has since the Revolutionary War.

ROYALTY COMING TO VISIT CANADA

Special to Telegram.

London, Aug. 10.—The Duke and Duchess of Connaught will go abroad for a month, returning in September to pay a visit to the King and Queen at Balmoral.

Their royal highnesses are already making preparations for their departure for Canada on October 6. Extensive outfits are being prepared for them and for Princess Patricia, who intends to avail herself of the facilities for tobogganning, skieing, curling and skating which are the chief pastimes of the winter season in Ottawa and Montreal.

Her Royal Highness became expert at these games while visiting her sister in Sweden.

The Duchess of Connaught is fond of golf, and has played a good deal in the early part of the season at Bagshot, where there is a short private course.

As the daughter of the famous "Red Prince," the duchess was abold and fearless rider, and she will probably be seen in the saddle frequently in the Dominion as she is taking out several horses.

Under the "regime" of a Royal Duke Government House, Ottawa will be a centre of magnificent hospitality such as obtained in the days when the Duchess of Argyll was hostess there.

RAID BARS OF ELITE.

Two Proprietors in Lakewood Arrested by County Officials.

Lakewood, N. J., Aug. 10.—The summer quiet of this fashionable winter resort was very much upset last night when Prosecutor T. J. R. Brown and Sheriff Charles H. Cox turned up at the French restaurant and Ryno's Hotel and arrested the owners for the illegal sale of liquor.

The French place is run by Lazarus Constantinon, who has twice been refused license, though his application contained such names as those of George J. Gould, Jasper Lynch, Frederick A. Potts, Dr. Paul T. Kimball and other prominent winter residents, signed. It is believed a license would have gained him the Town Club as a tenant.

At the hotel of John E. Ryno, nearby, 14 men were found drinking in a full-fledged barroom in the basement. Their names were taken and Ryno was taken to court at Toms River. A keg of whiskey and a number of cases of beer were seized as evidence.

At the French restaurant, Constantinon vehemently denied that there was any liquor in the place, but detectives who had gotten evidence pointed to a closet and told him if he did not open it they would knock the door down. He opened it and iside were found a number of bottles of all sorts of fancy drinks. The place is said to have had political protection, which was thought to be safe.

Both men were held for the grand jury.

MAKE HORSES LAUGH AT LAW.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—Hucksters who a few weeks ago went on a "strike" and created great disorder because of the passage of an ordinance prohibiting them from crying out their wares, have found a loophole.

By changing the name of his horse each day to conform to the shifting stock in trade, each of the 4,000 hucsters is managing to approximate the working conditions of former days without breaking the law.

"Whoa, cabbages," "whoa, cabbages," howled a huckster as he led his horse down Ghetto street yesterday. He was continuing with the monologue, driving bargains with housewives between times when a policeman hove in sight.

"You're breaking the law," said the officer.

"I ain't breaking nothing," said the huckster. "It's my horse's name. I'm saying cabbages." The policeman was unwilling to make an arrest and the peddler proceeded.

Later, other peddlers came through the same street. Strangely enough the horse drawing a wagonload of bananas was called "Banano." "Whoa, banano! "Whoa, Banano!" the peddler yelled, accenting the latter word.

Very Serious

It is a very serious matter to ask for one medicine and have the wrong one given you. For this reason we urge you in buying to be careful to get the genuine—

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine

The reputation of this old, reliable medicine, for constipation, indigestion and liver trouble, is firmly established. It does not imitate other medicines. It is better than others, or it would not be the favorite liver powder, with a larger sale than all others combined.

THERE'S Probably a Classified Ad in this Issue That's of Even More Importance to You Than to the Advertiser Himself!

Can't you conceive how this may be true?

Suppose it's an ad offering employment that would be both congenial and profitable to you—or an ad of a place to live where life would be twice as good and livable to you as where you are now "pasting" it—or a real estate ad, affording an undeniable profit-opportunity to an investor who has real estate "gumption"—or an ad through which that nearly-satisfactory servant is at last found! Would not ads of these sorts be of really greater importance to you than to the people who wrote them and paid for having them published in this paper?

NEWS NOTES FROM ELON COLLEGE

Special to Telegram.

Elon College, Aug. 10.—Dr. J. O. Atkinson is this week engaged in a very successful revival service at Pleasant Grove Christian Church, Va. He is being assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. U. Butler, the famous evangelistic singers, who for a number of years were with Dr. Torry in his great revivals in various parts of the world.

Prof. W. P. Lawrence, of the chair of English, who has been teaching Rhetoric and the Writing of the Short Story in the Summer School of Wooster University, Wooster, Ohio, will arrive home in a few days. Prof. Lawrence has been offered a professorship of English in the Wooster University, but he has decline to accept, a decision for which his many friends and admirers are very grateful.

Dr. W. C. Wicker, of the Chair of Philosophy, is this week holding evangelistic services in the Hines' Chapel Christian church, Brown Summit, N. C. Reports seem to indicate a very excellent series of meetings.

Mr. Joseph Clendenin of the Hill, continues very sick at his residence and no hope is entertained of his early recovery and very little of his ultimate restoration to health.

Rev. J. W. Wellons is still visiting in Franklin and Wake counties. He is expected home some time during the next week.

The Greensboro Christian Sunday School will picnic on the college campus on the 17th instant. They will be joined by the annual campus picnic of the villagers and perhaps also by the Sunday School from Graham. These picnickers will enjoy the privilege of the campus and college buildings.

Prof. N. F. Brannock, who has been ill at the St. Leo's Hospital in Greensboro, continues very sick. Prof. Brannock had a back-set several days ago from which he is slow to recover. It is hoped that his speedy and ultimate recovery will be soon here.

BOND ISSUE FOR Y. M. C. A. BUILDING

Was Negotiated so as to Have Ready Money Until Subscriptions Fall Due.

The directors of the Young Men's Christian Association have voted a bond issue of $25,000 to pay for the building when it is turned over by the contractor and this money is now available, the bonds having been taken by the Dixie Fire Insurance Company, the Greensboro Fire Insurance Company, the Southern Life & Trust Company and the Security Life & Annuity Company.

This bond issue is not in the nature of a debt hanging over the building but is for the purpose of having ready money so the contractor can be paid in full. The association has that amount of undue subscriptions, some of which will not be due in several years. When all the subscriptions are paid in the bond issue will have been paid in full and there will be no indebtedness. The bonds bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent., ten per cent of the issue to be paid annually until all the bonds are cancelled. The next installment on subscriptions will fall due on September 1 and it is possible that a portion of the bonds can be redeemed at that time. According to the present indications from 95 to 97 per cent of the total subscriptions pledged will be collected, this being an unusually fine showing. Many predicted that not over 50 per cent of the subscriptions would be actually paid. As is well known a number of subscriptions were for from $500 to $5,000 and these were arranged to be paid so much per annum until paid in full.

The work on the Y. M. C. A. building is progressing rapidly and the building will be completed by Sept. 1. The entire equipment is of fine quality and good workmanship and the building will be one of the best equipped in the south. The plastering is now going on rapidly and the floors are being laid.

PEA VINE WITH PODS TWO AND HALF FEET LONG.

R. J. Holden, who lives on the McConnell road, two miles east of the city, reported to The Telegram this morning the fact that on the farm of Henry Greeson, adjoining his, there are pea vines with pods two and a half feet in length each pod being filled with peas. Mr. Holden states that the seed were secured from a relative in Washington and the name of the plant is unknown. The stalk or vine has been trained on climbers and it measured fully six feet in height. Mr. Holden states that the vines are full of pods, while blooms are still appearing. He is anxious to learn the name of the pea and will be glad to show the curiosity to anyone who comes out to inspect it. The peas will be gathered and planted, and the owner hopes to get a goodly quantity of seed from the vines this year.

100,000 PEOPLE ARE HOMELESS AS RESULT OF STAMBOUL FIRE

Special to Telegram.

Vienna, Aug. 10.—Statistics which have been received here with regard to the great fire at Stamboul (Constantinople), afford graphic evidence of the terrible scenes enacted there during the past few days. It is stated that 100,000 people were rendered homeless, while no fewer than 9,000 houses were destroyed. The damage is estimated at $8,000,000. It is known that 40 persons lost their lives and that many more are missing. Over 500 policemen were injured, 1,100 people lost their eyesight, and 20 became insane. The catastrophe is one of the biggest of the sort in the history of the world, and the Sultan is greatly distressed.

Ten alleged incendiaries have been arrested. It is asserted that a pensioned lieutenant was discovered in the act of carrying two vessels full of petroleum, which he poured over articles of furniture.

The police have found a quantity of inflammable materials under both the bridges spanning the Golden Horn.

One Fish Landed On Two Fishers' Lines.

Bloomsburg, Pa., Aug. 10.—The most unusual freak bass catch reported in this section in recent years was when Reber and Kinney Meares, brothers, landed a two and a half pound bass in the Susquehanna river, near Rupert. In an effort to keep the fish from getting under the boat, Reber Meares attempted to lift his brother's line upon which the fish had been hooked, but the oars managed to get away, breaking off the line not far from the hook.

A moment later Reber Meares raised his pole, and found that the line had become wrapped several times around the hook at the end of his brother's line, and he landed the fish.

Preacher Punches Pickpocket in Plexus.

New York, Aug. 10.—The Rev. H. G. Garland, of Union Hill, N. J., took a ride up Avenue A yesterday on an open car. He though he felt a hand in his hip pocket where he keeps his pocketbook. First making sure that the suspected hand was a masculine hand, he punched its owner's solar plexus half way through to his spine.

When they brought the man around, he said he was Solomon Smith, a painter 24 years old, of 308 East Ninth street. He was locked up charged with attempted grand larceny.

Mrs. Outlaw Dead.

Mrs. Emma Monk Outlaw died today at noon at Mrs. Turner's boarding house, 121 Ashe street, after a short illness. The deceased was 26 years of age and had been living in Greensboro for only a few months since her marriage, though she resided here prior to leaving several years ago. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock, conducted by Rev. E. K. McLarty. The interment will be made in Green Hill cemetery.

The brother of the deceased, A. C. Monk, of Farmville, was present at the bedside when the end came. The death is peculiarly sad in that the young woman had been married for only a short length of time, and her husband, who is at work in El Paso, Tex., could not be summoned to the sick room and will not be able to make the long journey and be present for the funeral.

The "hidden check" has been found.

The finder is John Wilson, the little son of Attorney John N. Wilson of this city, and the check was hidden at the store of the Fariss-Klutz Drug Company.

Scores of people in the city read the page of advertisements which appeared in The Telegram yesterday and deciphered the words revealing the hiding place of the check, but the $5 was given to the person first asking for it at the place where it was hidden, according to the rules of the contest.

The "hidden check" page will be published twice more, on Wednesday of next week and the succeeding week, and $5 will be given each week to the finder of the check. The check will be hidden in a different place each week. Read the advertisements each time and pick out the extra letters and arrange them to spell the name of the place where the check is hidden. Then see if you can be the first to ask for the check at the place where it is concealed. If so, you will be given the check.

In Municipal Court.

Two negroes, Matthew Pass and Jack Richmond, for engaging in an affray with deadly weapons, formed the only case that was tried in Municipal court this morning. Richmond's absence was very notable, it being evident that he has decided to start his career anew in some more favorable clime. Matthew, however, was arrested by the officers and the evidence produced against him this morning made him liable to a fine of $7.50 and the costs, an aggregate total of $16.35 for his liberty.

A half dozen defendants appeared in a body to answer the charge of keeping hogs within a quarter mile of the corporation limits of the city. They submitted to the charge but asked that the trial of their cases be postponed until Saturday morning in order that they might have an opportunity of securing legal assistance. The request was granted by the court and the matetr will be ed by the court and the matter will be Carolina, Georgia, Florida and the District of Columbia, show that in these states there are aired at that time.

Pains All Over!

"You are welcome," says Mrs. Nora Guffey, of Broken Arrow, Okla., "to use my letter in any way you want to, if it will induce some suffering woman to try Cardui. I had pains all over, and suffered with an abscess. Three physicians failed to relieve me. Since taking Cardui, I am in better health than ever before, and that means much to me, because I suffered many years with womanly troubles, of different kinds. What other treatments I tried, helped me for a few days only."

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

Don't wait, until you are taken down sick, before taking care of yourself. The small aches and pains, and other symptoms of womanly weakness and disease, always mean worse to follow, unless given quick treatment.

You would always keep Cardui handy, if you knew what quick and permanent relief it gives, where weakness and disease of the womanly system makes life seem hard to bear. Cardui has helped over a million women. Try it.

SENATOR LAFOLLETTE WANTS TAFT'S SCALP

Will Assuredly be Candidate for Republican Nomination—Insurgent Republicans and Democrats Now in Control of Senate —Senator Penrose Acknowleges the Fact.

(By SIDNEY ESPEY.)

Washington, Aug. 10.—A series of recent developments in the Senate plainly demonstrates that Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, is after the political scalp of President Taft, and that Senator La Follette will assuredly be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

No other construction can be placed upon the activity with which the Wisconsin Senator is pursuing the task of tariff revision. The insurgent leader of the Senate is just as anxious today to get a tariff bill up to the President as is any Democrat of either the Senate or House, and in the event that the President vetoes the bill, there is a general feeling that La Follette as well as the Democratic party, will profit politically.

Strange politics has been played in the Senate during the past ten days. Even Senator Penrose, who seldom says anything that will acquaint the country with the fact that the Senate is not in control of the regulars, has admitted that the insurgents and the Democrats have the upper hand, and the nominal leader of the once powerful Republican majority has virtually thrown up the sponge. Senator Penrose, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, and heir to the mantel of leadership which fell from the shoulders of Nelson W. Aldrich, stood on the floor of the Senate and made the admission that "the Republicans no longer have a majority here."

This admission is but incidental to the fact that the insurgent-Democratic coalition in the Senate jammed the La Follette substitute for the wool bill, and that the same group of insurgents and Democrats have put through the farmers' free list bill, with amendments proposed by the insurgent wing.

It is practically certain today that these bills will be agreed upon in conference, and that they will eventually reach the White House. The President is admittedly in an embarrassing position, and Senator La Follette, believing that he knows the temper of the country, is biding his time and anticipating that the President will veto not only these, but all other tariff bills that may be sent to him.

Once this is done, it will be a feather in the cap, not alone of La Follette, but the Democrats of the House and Senate, and the insurgents and the Democrats will go immediately to the country, making the tariff an issue both prior to and after the launching of the next presidential campaign.

The Senator from Wisconsin has adroitly managed to have his name appended both to the wool bill and the free list bill. If the wool bill is finally agree to in conference, it will go to the President as the Underwood-La Follette bill. The same name will be borne by the free list bill, and there is no doubt that Senator La Follette will also attemp to amend the cotton bill when that is sent over to the Senate.

President Taft has assured regular Republicans of the Senate and House, it is reliably reported, that he will veto all tariff legislation which may be passed in advance of the report of the Tariff Board The insurgents and Democrats take little stock in the prospective report of that board, declaring that the country demands an immediate revision of the tariff and especially of Schedule K, which even the President, in a public speech, characterized as "indefensible."

The shrewd La Follette believes that the voters will be unwilling to pardon President Taft for his veto of a bill that promised a revision of the schedule which he so characterized. The Wisconsin Senator and his colleagues believe that the country is not so much interested in a technical report of the tariff board, as it is in prompt relief from the inequalities of the Payne tariff.

The political game played by Senator La Follette therefore is apparent. The President's veto of the tariff revision bill will be his stock in trade, just as it will be the slogan of the Democrats. Senator La Follette will go before the next Republican convention, and will be in position to upbraid the President for withholding his signature from the La Follette-Underwood bills. Even if Mr. La Follette fails to receive the nomination his antipathy toward the President may go to such an extent that he will refuse his aid to the Republican ticket, and the large La Follette following is bound to be affected by the President's expected repudiation of the bills w hich Senatflor La Follette and his insurgent friends in the Senate and House have helped to frame.

The situation is fraught with big possibilities for La Follette and also the President. There are some who predict that a President may be made or unmade by the developments of the next few days, when tariff revision matters will come to a head with the sending of the various bills to the White House, for it is generally conceded that the bills are coming out of conference.

True there is about a 15 per cent difference in the rates of the La Follette wool bill and the measure that originally passed the House, but both the Senate insurgents and the Democrats of the lower body are anxious to get some sort of a wool bill up to the President, and it is not doubted that with this common end in view a compromise may be reached in conference.

The Democrats want to go to the country and say that a Republican refused to stand for a revision of the tariff. Senator La Follette, leading insurgent and political enemy of Mr. Taft, wants to be in a position to make exactly the same claims. So the insurgents are willing to combine with the Democrats and vice versa.

The next political game of "putting the President in a hole" is now well under way, and Mr. Taft realizes it as well as anyone else that the President may well be concerned about the outlook goes without saying, despite the assurances of some standpat Republicans that the votes will accept the President's excuse that he deemed it best to "await the report of the tariff board."

Couldn't Blame Girls Who Were "Stuck" On Him.

Jersey City, N. J., Aug. 10.—Dr. George Muller, a member of the City Hospital staff, complained to the police that he was being annoyed by two girls who persisted in sending him postal cards and in calling him on the telephone. On Saturday night Detective Sergeant Hoffman caught the girls in a telephone booth and took them to the Seventh street police station.

They were very much frightened and wept bitterly. Hoffman called up Dr. Muller and asked him if he cared to press the complaint. Muller wanted to know what the girls had to say for themselves.

"They say they were stuck on you," said Hoffman.

"Oh, well, then in that case I don't care to enter a complaint," sad the doctor, and the girls were allowed to go home.

Old Baine's Chauffeur

Some men can be called old without the slightest disrespect. Such a man was Cyrus Baine. He was only fifty, comfortable rich and growing richer and was liked in his clubs and person spoke of him as Mr. Baine. It was always as Old Baine. He came to know it and accept the title. persons spoke of him as Mr. Baines. There were a lot of bright young fellows in the Acorn club who were friendly with Old Baine.

Old Baine had a beautiful home in the suburbs. In that home, besides a wife, he had a handsome daughter named Maude. She often came to the city with him and she was known by sight to a score of the Acornites. A number of them had sought invitations to The Elms, but the owner had pretended not to understand. Old Baine had a husband picked out for Miss Maude and that gentleman didn't belong to the Acorn club. He was out west in the railroad business and trying to climb to the top. There should be no prowlers coming around The Elms.

If the father had been asked which young man he "took to" most at the Acorn club, he would have answered Harry Campbell. There was a bright young man, making his way as a civil engineer and to be heard of some day among the best. Old Baine sized him up as having plenty of ambition, but no guile. So great was his trust in him that he confidently informed him that he was going west to be gone three months and that his old chauffeur having quit his job the ladies must go to the trouble of getting another after his departure.

Two days after young Campbell had shaken hands with Old Baine and hoped him a pleasant stay in the wild and wholly and was sorry he couldn't go along, he appeared at The Elms in a $12 suit, ready-made, and made application for a chauffeur's place.

It was Miss Maude who was to do the engaging and she looked upon the applicant with surprise and suspicion. He looked anything but the real thing.

"Some gentleman who has suffered misfortune," mused Miss Maude to herself. "Will he keep to his place or take advantage? I will at least give him a trial."

"Mr. Harris," as he was supposed to be, returned to town after his outfit and was duly installed in his place. The first time he ran the auto Miss Maude watched him with critical eye and her mother was in a tremble.

Harris was given a week's trial and he suited the place admirably. Perhaps the only fault to be found with Harris was the reserve.

He was on his third week and the city papers had chronicled the "mysterious disappearance of a club man and civil engineer," when the mother, who had been out alone paying calls, returned home to say to the daughter:

"Well, what do you think has happened this afternoon!"

"I had just come out of Mrs. Ponpon's and Harris stood beside the auto to help me in when a young lady driving past bowed and smiled at him and he lifted his cap. It was a young lady from the city, too."

"Ha! And she had on a hat that never cost less than $40! What do you make of it?"

"I don't make anything."

But just the same, Miss Maude determined to find out more about Harris without delay. Was he a Raffles? Was he hiding from the police? Had he abandoned his young wife? Was he—he—?

The mystery should be solved and if he were an impostor in the slightest degree something should be done. Next day she ordered out the auto and took a spin alone. She had things in view, but of course she must have a little time to get them in due order in her mind. She was working by the card system and glancing now and then at the back of Harris' head when a loud explosion was heard from around a bend in the highway. It fairly halted the auto.

To her screams of terror Harris answered with the one word: "Dynamite!" As the word was out he jumped to the ground, tore at the rails of the fence on the right-hand side for a moment and then sprang back into the machine and bumped it through into the field.

And he was not a moment too soon! Four horses and two wagons belonging to farmers came tearing around the bend at a mad gallop, frightened by the explosion in the quarry. They went by with a rush and a roar that meant death to anything in their path for the next mile.

"Oh!" whispered the girl as she looked and began sobbing.

"Shall we go home, ma'am?" quietly asked Harris.

The girl shivered and wept all the way back. The quick wit of Harris had saved them from death. That evening he was called into the sitting room and asked:

"Mr. Harris, who and what are you?"

"Why—why—"

"Answer me on the honor of a gentleman. I want to know who I am to thank and be grateful to all my life."

Two months later, when Old Baine got back and came to the Acorn club for dinner, he looked up from his meat and saw a smiling, guileless young man before him and shook a finger at him and said:

"This will be a case of the father-in-law living with the son-in-law and don't you forget it!"

Fireman Risks Life to Save Petie and Pinkie.

New York, Aug. 10.—Two white mice owned by the children of William Kalzman, living on the third floor of 351 Riverdale avenue, Brownsville, managed to get out of their cage yesterday afternoon. They nibbled matches and these igniting set fire to a curtain.

The Kalzmans and the other families were driven to the street.

"Save Petie and Pinkie!" shrieked little Ruth Kalzman.

A fireman managed to get up into the apartment. Half suffocated he came down a ladder a few minutes later.

"No children or anybody in there," he said. "All I found were these two white mice." He held them in his hand.

"They are Pinkey and Petie," said the child.

We are apt to speak of a man as being lucky when he succeeds in something we have failed at.

DIAMOND DUST

Where They Play Tomorrow.

Anderson at Greensboro.
Charlotte at Greenville.
Winston at Spartanburg.

Oh, you, Mr. Eldridge.

It's up to us not only to win when Winston does, but also some of the days they lose.

The members of the anvil chorus will please rise and join in singing, "When Reuben Comes to Town."

Greenville's new find in pitchers, one Watson, went the way of the world of pitchers that pitch against the Patriots too often.

The team will be at home the next six games, and it's up to the fans to "get in the game;" go out, and to make a noise like winning the pennant.

Tony Walters will probably do the twirling in this afternoon's game. The doctor usually "comes back" good and strong and some classy pitching is anticipated.

The Twins will be away from home for a week. If they win as they have at home it will take some tall playing on the part of the locals to be even with them in the percentage column when the two teams meet a week and a half from now.

The Anderson team came over this morning from Winston and will be here the remainder of the week. We have a few scores to settle with the Electricians and not less than two games will do. There is no valid reason why the doctor and deacon should not win, and if so we believe "Rube" will bring his home Saturday.

The Patriots returned on a late train last night from Greenville, where they lost two of the three games, bringing home with them the one of yesterday. However, they won half of the games while away, which is generally considered very good work while on the road. They play Anderson and Greenville here for the next week.

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, saltrheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif., "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c at Fariss Klutz Drug Co.

AUTO A FIERY CHARIOT.

Pleasantville Firemen Save Atlantic City Visitors.

Atlantic City, Aug. 10.—While passing through Pleasantville on a tour from New York City to this resort a large touring car rear burst into flame, unnoticed by the occupants. The flames had grown to dangerous proportions when the car turned into the Meadow Boulevard. In answer to cries of alarm from pedestrians the chauffeur brought the machine to a stop, and the occupants, for the first time realizing their danger, hurried pell mell into the street. The Pleasantville fire department was called out to subdue the flames, and the auto was so badly damaged that it was found necessary to tow it to a near-by garage, while the members of the party continued on their journey to the resort in an electric train.

BEGUM OF BHOPAL IS GREAT SPENDER

Special to Telegram.

Geneva, Aug. 10.—The Begum of Bhopal, after spending a fortnight here has left Geneva for Bombay. She arrived with 82 boxes and departed with 243, which filled two large trucks.

Each box was heavily laden with Swiss goods of all kinds, from silks and chocolates to wood-carvings and musical boxes. The Begum cleared out some jewelers' shops. She bought a large quantity of jewels, including 4,022 gold and silver watches. Such a customer has not visited Geneva since the time of Byron and the English milords of long ago.

TRUNDLES 'BARROW 600 MILES.

Tar Heel Wins $500 By Completing the Journey in 31 Days.

New York, Aug. 10.—Frank A. Orr, of Charlotte, N. C., visited Mayor Gaynor today and told him that he had completed in 31 days the task of wheeling a wheelbarrow from the Charlotte city hall to the New York city hall, accompanied by his pet for terrier, Prince.

Orr left Charlotte on July 4, after the Sporting Club of that city had wagered $500 that Orr could not make the journey within that time. He was not allowed, under the terms of the wager, to beg or borrow food, money or lodging, and had to start without a penny.

He says he found the cities inhospitable, but plenty of folk in the country towns were willing to help him. Many nights he slept out in the open, and feels fine for it. At Bristol, Pa., a crazy man escaped from an asylum, ran out of the woods and attacked him. With the aid of a farmer he overpowered the lunatic.

"I was bound to win," said Orr. "Unless I had when I went back the folks at home would have called me feather leg."

There Are Sea Serpents; These Folks Saw One.

Bloomfield, N. J., Aug. 10.—Some bathers in the Morris Canal yesterday were driven to the bank by a cry of "devil fish!" raised by one of the men, who declares he saw the monster following him with its head out of the water. He says he clambored up the bank just in time to escape it. The "fish" then turned and went down stream.

Albert Woodrow, of Brookdale, (N. J.) who had a good view of the monster as it passed, says it was at least ten feet long, with a head at large as that of a bulldog. "If it was a water snake," he declared, "it was the biggest ever I saw, and I have seen hundreds of them."

Several men followed "the fish" down the canal for a short distance, but it went so fast that they soon lost sight of it. Word was sent to the lock tender at the Bloomfield plant to keep a lookout, but it never reached that point, or it it did, went over the falls unnoticed.

When word was sent to Bloomfield the bathing resorts on the canal were quickly deserted.

ENGLISH COUNTERFEITS OF SILVER COINS

Special to Telegram.

London, Aug. 10.—A pipe manufacturer and silversmith named Albert J. Pritchard, and his son, George Pritchard, both of whom live at a tobacconist's shop in Cheetham Hill road, Manchester, have, it is alleged, been manufacturing silver coins to make up for bad trade. They were up for examination today.

A silversmith pronounced the coins to be made of real silver, but said there was a slight defect in the Roman figuring. In his opinion they had not been through the mint.

The elder defendant, according to a detective, made the following statement:

"I manufactured the coins myself owing to bad trade, and I, being a silversmith, thought there was a profit to be made out of it. From what I have read they are really standard coins which I made with a die. Only myself and my son are concerned in making them during the past two years."

The fraud was discovered owing to the large number of florins and half crowns reaching the Bank of England in Manchester. The bank officials investigated the matter, and a raid on defendant's shop resulted in the discovery of a large number of unfinished coins.

RANSOM OF $15,000 OFFERED CAPTORS OF GERMAN GEOLOGIST

Special to Telegram.

Salonica, Aug. 10.—An offer of a ransom of $15,000 has been made by friends on behalf of Prof. Edouard Richter, the German geologist who was captured by brigands two months ago, while making an ascent of Mount Olympus, near Thessaly.

The brigands have demanded $250,000 as well as presents of jewels, but the Turkish government has declined to recognize any claims, and has sent two bodies of troops to capture the brigand In order to obtain information of the whereabouts, the inhabitants of surrounding villages were soundly flogged, although without effect.

Professor Ritcher has now written a letter beseeching payment of the ransom to "put an end to his sufferings." Negotiations are proceeding between the brigands and Professor Richter's friends.

Dog Begs Doctor to Set Broken Paw.

New York, Aug. 10.—A winsome setter puppy got himself into yesterday's paper by dropping in at Bellevue on Saturday evening and begging the doctors to set a broken paw. It was an ugly compound fracture and they dressed it and splinted it and put him to bed in the stables.

There he promptly chewed the splint off and went back to nature's treatment with his tongue. The doctors were very severe. They fixed a new splint more securely and the puppy went to sleep. Early yesterday morning he was gone.

A Bellevue driver hunting for him along the East River piers found him swimming gloriously at the foot of Twenty-eighth street. When the driver called the puppy turned tail and struck out for Brooklyn. Life Saver Dennis Killeen jumped in, clothes and all. It was nearly time for his morning dip anyway and a row lock of his boat was out of order. The puppy led him a chase under a pier and when caught bit at his rescuer's finger ferociously, all but breaking the skin. The splint was gone.

Now they've fixed up a mighty splint drenched with assafoetida, on which no one could possibly chew. The puppy is back in the stables, tethered, and promises to be a "good dog."

Found Bricks in Tap Root of Tree.

Springfield, Mass., Aug. 10.—In removing an elm tree to prepare for the foundations of the new municipal building, workmen discovered a bulging root about four feet in the ground. The root was cut open and inside were found two bricks, which the root completely enveloped. The specimen will probably be given to the Science Museum.

Gyp Flags Automobile With Feet; Saves Anna.

Bloomfield, N. J., Aug. 10.—Anna Beldon, 5 years old, daughter of Alexander Beldon, of Washington street, was crossing Washington street today, accompanied by her Irish terrier, Gyp. Seeinn an automobile going west, she ran to get out of its way, and just as she cleared the machine she fell.

Another automobile going east came around a bend of the street. The dog, apparently seeing the perilous position of its mistress, stood on its hind feet near her, and by barking and waving its forelegs attracted the attention of Eugene Hermoy, who was driving the automobile, and he stopped the machine within a few feet of the child.

Unexpected Guests

The farmer and his wife were about to sit down to a cold supper when they saw some old friends driving towards the house.

The good wife was equal to the occasion—thanks to her New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

She had it lit in a moment, and her guests hardly were seated on the porch before a hearty hot meal was ready for the table—sausages and eggs and long rashers of streaky bacon, and rolls just crisped in the oven and fresh coffee—and the hostess herself as cool and neat as if she had not been near the kitchen.

She never could have managed it with an old-fashioned range. The New Perfection is the quickest, most convenient and best cooker on the market.

Horses Show Their Intelligence And Enjoyment In Cavalry Drill

Photos copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

WHEN the veterans who took part in the battle of Bull Run recently assembled on the historic battlefield to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of that conflict there were many soldiers present who might have been the grandchildren or even the great-grandchildren of the men who met to fight again the battle that really opened the civil war. Two troops of cavalry from Fort Myer went to the battlefield to serve as an escort for President Taft, who made the trip by automobile. These cavalrymen gave several exhibitions that interested and aroused the veterans. They made their horses lie down and remain as if dead, they formed in order and made a dashing charge against an imaginary enemy, and later they did "rough riding" tricks that elicited wild applause. These exploits are shown in the picture.

CONFERENCE ON WOOL BILL IS RESUMED

Washington, Aug. 10.—Senator LaFollette and Representative Underwood resumed their conference on the wool bill. In the event of a disagreement the bill will be reported back to the House and Senate and then it will go over until December.

Dr. F. L. Dunlap, associate of Dr. Wiley in the bureau of chemistry, was placed on the grill before the House committee today.

He declared he and Dr. Wiley are equal on the pure food board. He acknowledged that in final decision of all cases Solicitor McCabe had the final say.

George W. Perkins was before the steel trust committee and escribed the panic of 1907 in Wall Street. All danger of Perkins having to go to jail for contempt of the committee is now passed.

New Plans for Financing Church

pect the Bible to give instruction on some particular line. While the Bible gives matter pertaining to different sciences, but is not designed to teach science, the statements in the Bible are scientific, showing the truth recorded in the Bible under the inspiration of the spirit accords with the truth revealed in nature.

"The Bible is a record of the dealings of God with man, each book of it dealing with some distinct phase of truth." Mr. Harvey enumerated a number of the books with the subject they treat. The theme of each book is a sub-topic of one general theme, "God Dealing With Man."

"It is required of a textbook that its statements be true. Otherwise it overthrows all its conclusions. A wrong promise will not sustain the argument built on it. The Bible sets forth doctrines; the doctrine of God, of man and of the relation between God and man, and so on a number of others. If the doctrine of God should prove to be false, all the rest would be false.

"To experience God in the life is perhaps the strongest proof of the existence of God and the truthfulness of the statements of our textbook concerning God. Now another line early in the Book is a promise from God of a seed of the woman that should bruise the serpent's head. Further on in the Book is given the name of that seed, later the place of his birth, the character of his ministry, soul agony and death for the sin of man. These have been literally fulfilled. Prophets tell of the outpouring of the Holy Spirit. Jesus promised to send the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit came according to prophecy and promise. Further proof is that the Bible has produced a long list of good men and women of undoubted devotion to God. Some of them may not have been good grammarians, and surely were not higher critics, but had great faith in God. They filled up the gallery of the heroes of faith in Hebrews.

"Modern higher critics tell us the patriarchs were only mythological, not real men. If this be true "Joseph is not,' in much deeper sense than the words of his sorrowing father meant. Then there was no Israel in bondage in Egypt, no Moses or slain lamb, no parting of the waters of the Red Sea, no wilderness journey, no law from Sinai, no tabernacle of worship nor shekinah of glory, no heroic Joshua nor kingly David, and, if no David, no "Son of David," who is the son of God, no Christ, no shed blood for the sins of men, and we are without God and without hope in the world of all men most miserable. But Bible doctrine wrought into human experience and producing holy men and women is our sufficient evidence to the contrary and also evidence that we had better stick close to the textbook."

He showed the need of sticking to the Bible because its truth has been the cleansing of sinful people and nations, because there is danger of losing the Bible. The sources of alarm are the irreverent higher critics, who inject doubt in the public mind as to the accuracy and authenticity of the Bible record. As Dr. Parker said in his last message, we ask with him, "How much of the Bible will be left us in the next half-century?"

AGREEMENT ON NO FREE LIST BILL REACHED

Washington, Aug. 10.—Chairman Underwood and Senator LaFollette today agreed upon the free list bill and it will be reported to the full committee on conference tomorrow.

Senator Cummins was today successful in having his resolution, calling upon the monetary commission to file its report by December 11, next, and for the discharge of the commission, brought up in the Senate.

Senator Smoot today admitted the Democratic Cotton tariff revision bill, with an adverse report of the Senate finance committee. The bill was relegated to the calendar.

The Stanley investigating committee may resort to legal proceedings to gain access to the books of the Steel trust subsidiary companies. Attorney Lindabury for the trust will refer the matter to his clients. If they refuse to show the books the matter will go to the courts.

Death of Infant.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Curry, of Friendship, died yesterday at noon.

The funeral was held at Friendship church at 12 o'clock today.

Mrs. J. C. Bishop Died This Morning

At 8 o'clock this morning Mrs. J. C. Bishop succumbed to the sufferings caused by a dreadful malady that has confined her, critically ill, to her bed for the past several days and from the effects of which she has been in failing health for full five years. The best medical attention could avail no iad in the brave struggle for life, and early in the morning after a long night that could offer no hope to the watchers death came on silent wings and relieved the wife and mother of her pain, leaving her sweetly sleeping.

The cause of Mrs. Bishop's death and the cause of so much pain to her during the past five years was Bright's disease, though this fact was never disclosed to friends, but was kept as a jeolously guarded secret by the family lest Mrs. Bishop might become aware of the fatal disease that held her life in its grasp. Treatment through the years was never productive of a cure, its effect being only a temporary benefit, and affording only slight relief.

Mrs. Bishop was 51 years of age, having ben born on March 7, 1860. She was the daughter of C. W. and Katherine Wolfe Harnsberger, and her childhood was spent at her birthplace, Elkton, Va. In her immediate family she is survived by her husband, J. C. Bishop, two daughters, Miss Mattie Bishop and Mrs. J. W. Tankersley, formerly Miss Bonnie Katherine Bishop, and a bride of only a month; a sister, Mrs. R. J. Snapp, of Elkton, Va., and two brothers, Rev. A. L. Harnsberger, of Newcastle, Va., a prominent preacher of the Virginia conference, and J. O. Harnsberger, of Elkton. These relatives were gathered about the bedside of their wife, mother and sister, during the last moments.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the Bishop home place, 105 Frisco street. The funeral rites will be conducted by Rev. E. K. McLarty, pastor of West Market Methodist church, of which the deceased has been a member for many years. She was a faithful Methodist for 36 years, ever true to her friends and her convictions. She professed religion and entered the church when only 15 years of age, and during her entire life since that time has been loyal to her faith, and a kind and sacrificing woman toward all with whom she came in touch. A host of friends made in this city through the years of residence here mourn their loss.

After the services at the house the remains will be interred in the family plot in Green Hill cemetery by the side of the grave of Hubert Bishop, who preceded his mother to the tomb at his death about six years ago. Those who will serve as active pall-bearers are: J. M. Hendrix, C. H. Dorsett, C. H. Ireland, A. B. Kimball, G. S. Sergeant, and W. F. Allen. The list of honorary pall-bearers includes the following: J. W. Fry, J. W. Scott, J. A. Odell, R. M. Reese, J. S. Cox and W. L. Grissom.
